W. T. Scott

After a short illness at his home just west of Somerville, W. T. Scott passed to his reward on Tuesday afternoon of this week, surrounded by his family and friends.

Mr. Scott came to this community a few years ago from Hickory Valley where he had been for a number of years one of its most successful business men. He bought the old Rivers farm just west of town and completely repaired and remodeled the old colonial residence on it, making it one of the choicest homes in the community, and his family have since then made their there, Mr. Scott not engaging actively in business other than conducting his farming interests.

Early in life he united with the Presbyterian church at Hickory Valley and lived a consistent member to the time of his death, retaining his membership there to the end, and his pastor, Rev. Mr. Davis of that place conducted the funeral exercises at the residence Wednesday afternoon, which was followed by interment in the Somerville Cemetery.

Deceased leaves six children and his widow. The children are R. B. Scott of Hickory Valley, Mrs. R. W. Loyd of Birmingham, Fred Scott of Scott Mississippi, and three of Somerville, Joe H. Mrs. W. A. Rhea, and Miss Jamie.

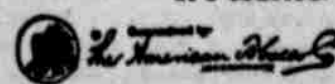

The community joins them in sympathy for their grief.

If you have the itch, don't scratch. It does not cure the trouble and makes the skin bleed. Apply BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. Rub it gently on the affected parts. It relieves itching instantly and a few applications removes the cause thus performing a permanent cure. Sold by Cartmell Gillmann Drug Co. adv.

The Strawberry Growers Meet

A meeting was held Saturday afternoon in the circuit court room of the business men of the city and the prospective strawberry growers of the surrounding territory. The meeting was largely attended, probably three hundred people present, and manifested much interest in the discussions.

The principal speaker of the occasion was Mr. Tackett, of the Humboldt Chamber of Commerce who came here upon invitation to tell our people about planting, growing and marketing berries. His address was exhaustive and instructive and his audience manifested a marked interest in his advice, frequently interrupting him to ask questions about the industry.

Summed up, his advice was that no plants be put in the fields now, for it is too late to put out plants with a hope of getting a profitable crop of market berries next spring. The danger of summer-killing of plants set out this late is too great to take the risk, he thinks, and the local growers decided to accept this advice and defer planting berries until next spring. It was advised that those who propose to set berries select their land now, plant to peas, disk the peas and turn under in the fall and sow rye or crimson clover, and in early spring turn this under, prepare the land set the berries, not later than April, cultivate clean thru the first growing season and harvest a good crop the following spring. This in brief, is the plan followed by Humboldt growers and they have made a splendid success. Mr. Tackett told us that berries brought to Humboldt growers in the past three weeks more than a quarter of a Million dollars. Think what it would mean to Somerville right now to have coming in such a sum.

A committee was appointed to raise funds for the purpose of employing an experienced berry grower to give his entire time to education work in this industry until plants are in the fields next spring, at least, may be longer, and to work up an interest in a larger acreage, help farmers plan crop methods and preparation of lands for berries, etc., etc. This committee is composed of the cashiers of the two local banks, who were both present at both meetings recently held, and E. Allen of Williston who has taken as much interest in the berry movement as any man in the county and who has pledged the largest acreage of any man in the county. The active backing of such men as these and others who are behind this move should guarantee that it will be followed up and made a success and we are confidently looking for much good to come to this community from these startings.

The Falcon has not the details, but hears that an active organization has begun work at Oakland along the same lines and will put out sufficient acreage to assure car load shipments of berries.

The New School Laws

The Falcon has just received copies of the new school laws enacted by the last legislature and presents a few provisions as follows:

Effective July 1, a month from now, the County Board which has controlled all schools of the county except high schools, will be abolished, the County High School Board is abolished the same date and the District Advisory Boards abolished. This does entirely away with all present local school machinery. The new law then establishes one county board to be called the County Board of Education, composed of seven men elected by the county court at its coming July term, one man for one year, one for two years, one for three years, etc., the last for seven years, and each July thereafter one member will be elected at the July term of court. No provision is made for distributing these to the several districts and they may be taken from any points in the county. This Board will control both the elementary and the high schools in very much the same manner the present boards operate. A vacancy in the membership of the board will be filled at the next meeting of the county court.

The school census is required to be taken each year in May instead of in July as in the past.

The new law makes it a misdemeanor for any school officer to vote to expend more money than the income of the board for school purposes.

The new law makes a different means of distributing the state school fund. First it gives to each county in the state $8,000, provided each county levies a county school tax of $5.00 for every child of school age in the county, or levies a school tax of 30 cents on the $100 of valuation. There are 12,000 school children in Fayette county, almost. If the county court levies $5.00 per pupil it will make a county school tax of $60,000, and the state tax and high school tax added will give about $100,000 school taxes, where we have been getting but very little over half that amount and the whole county taxes this year are but $180,000. It gives something to think about before the taxes are levied.

The new law gives to the County Superintendent from the state school fund as much salary as the county pays, which is $650 now, and will make his salary $1300, and the new law requires the Superintendent to give his entire time to the duties of the office. It makes his term of office after January 1923 four years instead of two years as at present.

The new law authorizes the issuance of a license to be County Superintendent to any graduate of a college or university, where the old law required an examination.

These provisions will work considerable difference in the operation of the schools in a great many ways after the coming July.

Garden Notes

Sweet potato growers in this section have had a pretty hard time of it with plants the past two weeks. The frequent rains all spring would not permit plowing the ground unless it be done when soil was too wet, and this caused many clods, and when the best time for planting came the rains stopped short and the extreme heat has served with the lack of moisture to kill many of the plants set out. The writer set his entire acre nearly three weeks ago, but lost many, as has every grower heard from who has set out a goodly part of his crop. Many growers have waited for rains, and wisely it seems now.

Our tomatoes for the late crop are now ready for transplanting and we can furnish any number of plants at 50 cents per 100.

We are this week sowing the seed for our late cabbage crop. A little early, but well grown plants, ready when seasons are favorable, will go far toward assuring a good fall crop of cabbage. We will transplant these to rows last of July or in August when seasons are suitable.

There is time yet to sow celery seed if they are planted in a place damp and somewhat protected from hot sun. Barely cover seed with soil, keep watered and covered with boards till seeds germinate, and transplant to rows when large enough and seasons right.

We have had many inquiries as to whether the Pinto beans we buy in the stores for winter eating will grow here. We planted several rows last week in order to test them here. Those we buy are grown in California. Will tell you about them later.

Those expecting to plant Triumph potatoes of this spring growth for a fall crop had better be thinking about it. We believe best success will come from digging when vines are brown, cutting the small potatoes in halves and planting right back the same day they are dug. Cover deep, harrow off in ten days and a few days later throw two more furrows with turning plow on them, harrow again in ten days and they will come up soon. These workings keep down grass and weeds and keep the soil mulched. If there is a supply of moisture in the soil, this plan will give a stand every time. Lookout Mountains can be planted from July to September, preferably around August 1, and make the biggest and surest yield of any.

Business Meeting Held

The business meeting of Joyners Camp Ground was called to order by President Tucker at 2 p. m., May 28 1921, immediately after the annual picnic had been served. The meeting was opened by a prayer led by Mr. J. B. Summers. The president immediately opened discussion of the business.

Rev. Watson of the First Methodist church of Blytheville, Arkansas, has been secured to hold the meeting by President Tucker. Mr. Watson comes to us highly recommended.

The meeting will begin August 11, and close not sooner than one week and the length depends upon the success of the meeting.

The discussion of gate fee was next. Rev. G. B. Baskerville opened the discussion, he opposed the fee. The question was thoroughly discussed, then voted on, the result was that there would be no gate fee this year.

Rev. Baskerville made a motion and it was carried that every body camping and others who will, to join in and help clean the grounds, repair the camp and cut out the annual "expense account."

Mr. Henry Brown was elected to have charge of the hotel.

A committee of three was appointed to attend to the cleaning and repairing of grounds and anything else that has to be done. Mr. Hardy Sanders, chairman Mr. June Walker and Mr. Rhea Taylor, assistants.

A committee was appointed to investigate and try to improve the lighting proposition under the tabernacle and on the grounds.

Miss Mary Sue Taylor, Chairman; Miss Mary Sue Taylor and Mrs. June Walker, assisted by Miss Sophia Mount will have charge of the music, assisted by Mrs. Samuel Taylor.

Miss Sue Alexander, Miss Mary Sue Taylor and Samuel Taylor were appointed to attend to all the preacher's house.

Rev. G. B. Baskerville was appointed to attend to all preacher's houses.

Rev. G. B. Baskerville was appointed to conduct the Sunday School service during the meeting.

The President was given authority to grant permission to leagues and other organizations to use the grounds for their meeting places.

This about closed the business and a motion was made to adjourn, it was second and carried.

Rev. Baskerville, dismissed with a short prayer. There was a great amount of interest manifested at the meeting and from all indications we will have a fine meeting this year.

REV. E. A. TUCKER President. RHEA TAYLOR Secretary.

Cut This Out and Carry it With You

A man often forgets the exact name of the article he wishes to purchase, and as a last resort takes something else instead. That is always disappointing and unsatisfactory. The safe way is to cut this out and take it with you so as to make sure of getting Chamberlain's Tablets. You will find nothing quite so satisfactory for constipation and indigestion. adv.

The 1921 Fly

The fly stood on the garbage can, Whence all but him had fled, He rubbed his legs and looked around As to himself he said,

"Tis very strange; last year my wife And I came by this way, And found a most delightful place, A million eggs to lay.

"The garbage can was full of scraps The people had thrown out; And all things that flies most like, Were scattered round about.

"But now the lid is kept tight, And all is clean and neat; Some very cruel people must Have moved in on this street."

Sadly he spread his gauzy wings, While tears rolled down his cheeks; "If the town is clean like this," he said

"We flies wont live a week." Bristol Herald Courier.

Destroy Scrub Sires is Urged

That it would be a forward step for the state to float bonds necessary to buy and kill the scrub sires of its live stock and purchase purebred sires in their places, was the interesting statement of Andrew L. Todd, speaker of the state house of representatives and candidates for governor, before the East Tennessee Farmers' Convention held at the University of Tennessee May 17-19. Mr. Todd, in addition to being a political leader, is a leading purebred livestock breeder of Rutherford County.

The speaker praised Tennessee as the ideal livestock section with its rolling lands easily grassed, and with its abundance of pure water. Mr. Todd said that through inquiry he had learned that there is less than one percent of the cattle of the state that are purebred. He said that in Tennessee there are 9,000 sires, and that ninety-nine percent of them are scrubs.

Mr. Wisler Cured of Indigestion

"Some time in 1909 when I had an attack of indigestion and everything looked gloomy to me, I received a free sample of Chamberlain's Tablets by mail. I gave them a trial and they were such a help to me that I bought a package, and I can truthfully say that I have not had a similar attack since," writes Wm. B. Wisler, Douglassville, Pa. adv.

In Spite of the Times

A careful examination of our statement published in a recent issue of The Falcon will show that in spite of the hard times that have visited this country the past several months our deposits were larger this year than they were this time last year. The statement shows a substantial increase in the business of this bank during the year in all lines, and we have maintained a careful, safe, conservative policy. This growth of a positive kind that sticks and the end is not yet—This bank continues to grow. We solicit your business.
